

PATENT LAW TRANSLATION SERVICES

Language Connections is a 30-year veteran of patent translation. Our patent linguists understand your pressures: the demands of ever-changing domestic and international laws, tight deadlines, and more. But we don't just offer linguistic services. Our translators are subject matter experts in both specific patent office rules and jurisdiction regulations, as well as your required field — be it life sciences, technology, or business. We become trusted advisors that our clients turn to as their dockets expand. Your international patent, copyright, trademark, and litigation materials are guaranteed to be precisely translated (and filed, if you wish), all while being compliant with all relevant laws and regulations (no matter the country).

TESTIMONIALS & CLIENTS

Rarely can I be more enthusiastic about recommending a translation service than the one run by Mr. Galperin. I am a patent attorney with an IP law firm in Massachusetts. My firm does a lot of foreign patent and trademark work and I often am in need of patent translations. Language Connections has provided outstanding patent translations for our firm. The complexity of the documents and excellence of the finished translations shows Language Connections' focus on quality. They sought out subject-matter experts in related fields, and performed thorough research on the complex terminology in various technical fields. Their translations are impressively well done. Language Connections has always delivered their work on time, no deadline has ever been missed. I always appreciate that, since I sometimes send them texts to translate with very little time to spare before a deadline. In the deadline-intensive patent business this is always very much appreciated.

Our products are highly advanced and our markets are sophisticated – we need a language partner who can offer not only foreign language capability, but very specific subject matter expertise and deep multi-cultural experience. We found the whole package in Language Connections. They were able to handle both our documentation and various parts of our software localization extremely efficiently, on time, and on budget.
