Language Connections

WHO WE ARE

At Language Connections, we are committed to providing high-quality, professional linguistic services. Since our founding in 1993, we have served as a dedicated language service provider for clients across a wide range of industries spanning from biotechnology and pharmaceuticals, to international development, to government, to executive education, and more.

We are well-equipped to handle translation projects spanning from one page documents, to large, highly technical projects adapted for multiple languages. Our simultaneous and consecutive interpreting projects range from large, multi-interpreter events to smaller scale meetings. We also provide all necessary equipment related to your interpretation needs, and have experience providing virtual interpretation services as well.

OUR SERVICES

Translation - We offer translations in over 100 languages for a wide range of documents, business and legal materials, and more across multiple industries with our carefully selected, experienced translators

Interpretation - Our rigorously vetted interpreters and experienced project management staff provide high quality interpretation services on-site, over video, or over the phone to suit your needs.

Localization - With meticulous attention to detail and specialized cultural knowledge, we have the experience to provide you with superior localization services to ensure your message is well received across all languages and cultures.

Transcription - We offer transcription services of all media types for various needs such as legal, medical, video, audio, interview, and conference transcripts.

Voice-Over and Subtitling - Through working with partner studios, we are able to provide professional voice-overs in over 100 languages in addition to high quality subtitling for all audio/video needs.

Desktop Publishing - Our desktop publishing services help ensure that your final product is just as polished as the original, regardless of the language into which your content is translated.

“We gave Language Connections an urgent translation assignment that required technical precision, and they really came through for us. Not only was it completed quickly, but also, the recipient noted that the translated document was so professionally done that it was both precise and easy to understand, even for the non-technical general public. We will definitely use Language Connections again.”

“Language Connections has been a great help supporting our Japanese colleagues doing work for the MBTA. They have responded with minimal notice and provided seamless translation services for our engineers during a safety training classes. Which is a critical activity for the “T” and allows our associates to be in areas that would not otherwise be accessible.
